THE DICTIONARY AS AN INSTRUCTOR.

We notice as a matter well worth mentioning, that at the recent great publishers' trade sale in New York, the books that were most in demand and brought the best prices were Webster's Dictionaries, from the famous Quarto to the neat and handy pocket edition.— This fact is a good indication of the almost universal popularity of these books, and of the growing public demand for them. It indicates also a fact of far greater importance, and that is the interest the people are taking in the study of their own language. This is encouraging, as there is no branch of education that is now and has been so much neglected as the common branches of spelling and defining. It is often astonishing and grievous to see how grossly ignorant are children and youth, and even men and women, of the orthography, pronunciation and meaning of ordinary words and phrases. They cannot express their thoughts for the want of words, and often they express their thoughts very different from what they intend, because they do not understand the words they employ.— And very frequently, from the same cause, they take no idea, or wrong ideas, from what they read or hear.

The remedy for these evils is the proper training in the study of words, by the use of the Dictionary, and this training should begin as soon as the child can distinguish between one word and another, and continue indefinitely. The apparatus for this study should, of course, be the most complete and thorough to be had, and this is abundantly supplied in Webster's Dictionaries, which are justly recognized, wherever our language is spoken, as the standard authority in English. Parents and teachers can in no other way so effectually or so cheaply promote the educational interests of their children, when of suitable age, as by putting in their hands any one of Webster's School Dictionaries, for daily use in connection with the study of their lessons, and by placing on the family center table, or the teacher's desk as the authoritative guide and standard, a copy of the Unabridged.

The unabridged contains 3,000 illustrations, over 114,000 words in its vocabularies, and 10,000 words and meanings not in any other Dictionary; the abridged editions comprise "The Primary," which has the largest sale, and which has some capital rules for spelling. "The Common School" is similar, but larger, with tables of synonyms, &c. "The High School," still fuller, with many useful tables; "The Academic" and "Counting-house," for advanced schools and for general home and business use. The latter has some specially valuable commercial and financial tables. The little "Pocket" edition, with its bright gilt edges and morocco binding, is truly an invaluable pocket companion. It contains more than 18,000 words, rules for spelling, many abbreviations, words and phrases, proverbs, etc., ordinarily met with in the Greek, Latin and Modern languages. Whether it is convenient or not to have copies of any of the other books of the series, we certainly recommend that all should possess a copy of the Pocket, which, when not otherwise attainable, may be had by mail, by inclosing $1.00 to the publishers, MESSRS. IVISON, BLAKEMAN, TAYLOR & Co., 138 and 140 Grand Street, New York.

GEORGE P. ROWELL & Co. deserve the best thanks of the advertising community for their efforts to prevent advertisers from being imposed on by unscrupulous publishers. Messrs. Rowell & Co., alone of Newspaper Directory publishers, have had the courage to undertake the task of discriminating among the statements of newspapers, and to face the hostility which such a course was sure to excite among those who profited by misrepresentation. Notwithstanding the "crushing" articles that from time to time have been hurled at them, sometimes by parties who ought to have known better, they have persevered in their course, and they have had their reward. Their publication has taken the first place as the standard authority among American Newspaper Directories, and a reference book for every large advertiser and advertising agency in this country.—Jersey City Journal, May 22, 1877.

THE London Spelling Conference of May 29, has cheered up the friends of the reform, and greatly excited outsiders. Some of these ridicule it, but even the Times, as it gets a nearer view of the matter, moderates its thunder into a good humored patronage. Mr. Smalley, of the Tribune, betrays his want of knowledge on the subject by attempting to scoff at Mr. Lower of the English Parliament, for saying that we have but 24 letters to express about 38 sounds. Mr. Smalley thinks there are 26. Does he know that x and q are mere proxies for other letters having no sound of their own, and that the pretty type c is in a similarly humiliating position? R. Grant White is, we believe, the only philologist who opposes the reform. He opposes it evidently from love of opposition and notoriety. These cavilers all try to frighten people with the prospect that the change is to be general, whereas it is only desired for the primers and first readers used in English elementary schools.
